Dear Premier Campbell:

Re: Proposed changes to Civil Liability Laws

I am writing this letter with the hope that you will give some very careful consideration to the proposed changes to civil liabilities laws by the Attorney General, Geoff Plant.

Changes of this nature to our civil justice system would have devastating consequences on British Columbians. From my understanding, one of your promises before the election was to give British Columbians a more responsible and accountable government. I am having tremendous difficulty understanding how allowing governments to escape from their responsibility and accountability for their actions is fulfilling the commitment you made to citizens of BC.

Perhaps we are all missing your good intentions in this proposed plan and it would only make sense to request that you clarify this matter for us, as citizens who elected and brought you into this position of immense power.

I would like to thank you for taking the time out of hectic schedule to read and respond to this letter. I shall look forward to hearing from you.

Truly,

Freida Lalji
